WELCOME

Welcome to the 2019 SEARCH Symposium on Justice Information Technology, Policy and Research. SEARCH is proud to offer this national forum so participants can explore the most critical contemporary issues in justice information management and operations that confront and challenge key decision-makers and justice professionals at all levels.

New and emerging technologies play a crucial role in justice operations—enabling more sophisticated crime, enhancing investigative capabilities, and expanding research and information sharing. The 2019 SEARCH Symposium will explore the impact and role of technology, legal doctrine, policy initiatives, and research findings and opportunities in such areas as facial recognition, criminal justice reform and reentry, information security, commercial background checks, record sealing and expungement practices, crime analysis, measuring risk and redemption—and more.

With the 2019 Symposium, SEARCH offers keynote addresses from national thought leaders, intensive workshops across three complementary tracks—Technology, Policy, and Research—and opportunities for networking, education, and solutions. SEARCH is proud to commemorate our 50th anniversary this year, and the 2019 Symposium continues our long-standing practice of partnering with leading experts, industry thought leaders, researchers, practitioners, technical developers and justice and public safety professionals to learn, to engage, and to effect change.
