8:00A–9:00A
Information Systems Security: A Discussion of Current Challenges, Ongoing Threat Assessment, and Contingency Planning
Capital Ballroom

Cyber-attacks on critical law enforcement systems are on the rise across the country. From small agencies to large metropolitan police departments, the threat of a successful cyber-attack could cripple daily operations and present officer safety issues for those working the streets. As cybercriminals become increasingly sophisticated with their attacks, it is imperative that anyone who is responsible for a critical law enforcement system understand the risks and how to mitigate the impacts of a successful attack. This workshop is a facilitated discussion of the challenges and threats that state and local critical infrastructure (and particularly justice information networks and systems) confronts on an ongoing basis, and explores how states are managing risk assessment and planning for response should an attack or ransomware occur.

| 2:30P–3:30P | Interstate Offenders Under Supervision Notification System
The Interstate Commission for Adult Offenders under Supervision, ICAOS, regulates the movement of parolees and probationers across state lines. ICAOS has joined with SEARCH to develop an automated system to monitor these offenders for the issuance of arrest warrants and other contacts with law enforcement that might be potential violations. The system uses existing NCIC and Nlets capabilities to perform these checks, which requires the approval of state CSOs. This session focuses on the benefits gained by both supervision officials and law enforcement by entering these offenders into the NCIC Supervised Release File and monitoring for warrants in the NCIC Wanted Persons File and States that support the Nlets State Warrant Query (SWQ). | Mr. Mark Perbix
